Mr. T. K. Nayar (Minister for Rural Development):

(a) Experiments conducted at the Central Farm have shown that it is possible to increase the yield of paddy anything from 25 per cent to 50 per cent by the application of manure. The results of these experiments are demonstrated in the lands of the ryots in different centres of the State. A vigorous campaign in the manuring of paddy is conducted all over the State and people are advised to manure their crops with suitable manure. Government have also offered a subsidy of 25 per cent in the selling price of manure to enable the ryots to manure their crops. These measures are proving very effective. A selected kind of paddy, Cochin I (Chitteni) which gives an increase yield of 15 to 20 per cent is distributed among the cultivators and it has become popular with them.

(b) Experiments conducted in the Central Farm with the improved kind of Cochin I evolved by the Department show that an increased yield of 15 to 20 per cent can be obtained in Mundakan paddy lands. No experiments on drainage and irrigation have been conducted by the Department of Agriculture.

(c) The experiment was first conducted in the Government Central Farm, Ollukkara, and the seed was distributed among the ryots when it was found that an increased yield of 15 to 20 per cent can be obtained. The improved kind is now cultivated in different parts of the State.
